ABOUT ISEN

The International Society for ECT and Neurostimulation (ISEN) is a global organization dedicated to advancing the safe, ethical, and effective use of Electroconvulsive Therapy (ECT) and other neurostimulation treatments. Since its founding in 1976, ISEN has become a leading voice in education, research, and advocacy for these essential mental health treatments.

Mission: To strengthen the practice of ECT and neurostimulation through education, training, research, advocacy, and international collaboration.

Vision: Improving the lives of patients with severe neuropsychiatric illnesses through accessible, high-quality neurostimulation treatments. Key activities of the society include:

- The Journal of ECT – ISEN's official publication
- Annual Meeting & Scientific Program – Featuring world-renowned experts
- ECT Certification Courses – Recognized globally for excellence
- Webinars, Task Forces & Panels – Addressing critical issues in neurostimulation
- International Partnerships & Advocacy – Expanding treatment access worldwide

ISEN Annual Meeting & ECT Certificate Course

2025 marks ISEN's 34th Annual Meeting, featuring plenary sessions, expert presentations, and a poster session covering ECT, TMS, and emerging brain stimulation therapies. The ECT Certificate Course includes didactic and practicum sessions, culminating in an online certificate exam.

Members enjoy the benefit of discounted registration rates.

IMPORTANT EVENT NOTES

Refund Policy

A refund of the registration fee, less an $85 processing fee, will be made when an email written request followed by an email-written confirmation is received two weeks prior to the event start date. After this time, refunds cannot be made. Fees will not be refunded for failure to participate. The sponsors of the course reserve the right to cancel or postpone any conference because of unforeseen circumstances or insufficient enrollment. In the event of such cancellations, full tuition will be refunded. ISEN reserves the right to refuse registration, or refund registration fees, to any person whose presence has the potential to be disruptive and/or not consistent with the mission and goals of the organization.

Event Format and Digital Materials

The ECT Certificate Course is designed as an immersive, hands-on learning experience and will be offered exclusively in person. Due to the nature of the training, this course will not be recorded. Attendees must be present to complete the course requirements and obtain certification. Registrants will have access to program materials, including slide sets provided by speakers in advance, through a password-protected page on the ISEN website.

Disclosure of Commercial Relationships

In compliance with the ACCME Standards for Commercial Support, all individuals in a position to control/influence the content of this activity are required to disclose relevant financial interests with any commercial interests and/or non-FDA approved use of a drug or a device that is included in the presentation.

Enhancing Communication

If you require assistance with hearing or vision to make this conference accessible to you, please email events@isen-ect.org at least three weeks prior to the event date.

ECT COURSE OVERVIEW

Intended Audience

Since its development in 1938, electroconvulsive therapy has remained a crucial part of the psychiatrist's armamentarium in the treatment of major mental illness. Continued research has resulted in numerous refinements in treatment technique.

Recommendations in the last decade regarding optimal practice have included important new ideas regarding patient selection, stimulus dose titration, and outpatient maintenance strategies. The International Society for ECT and Neurostimulation (ISEN), in accordance with its mission to promote the safe and effective use of ECT, commissioned a task force in 1997 to study the training and credentialing of clinicians in this treatment modality. As a result of this task force, this full-day course on ECT, with exam, was developed. This course has been developed for psychiatrists, other physicians, and nurses involved in the administration of ECT.

Objectives

At the conclusion of the course, participants should be able to

- identify the indications for electroconvulsive therapy and appropriateness of patients,
- evaluate patients to determine appropriateness for unilateral or bilateral treatment,
- understand stimulus settings for present ECT devices,
- identify and manage common ECT complications,
- develop effective continuation and maintenance treatment strategies for patients with recurrent illness.

The ECT Certificate Course exam will be available to participants at the conclusion of the course and can be completed on-site. Participants who choose not to take the exam may still be eligible to receive CE credit for the course.

Practicum sessions are designed to provide attendees with ample time to engage with and complete the course objectives. However, ISEN does not certify individual competency.

EXHIBITOR TERMS & CONDITIONS

1. Convening Organization and Show Management

The International Society for ECT and Neurostimulation (ISEN) is the convening organization and show management for the ISEN Annual Meeting, to be held on May 18, 2025, at the DoubleTree by Hilton Los Angeles Downtown. For inquiries, please contact events@isen-ect.org.

2. Eligible Exhibits

ISEN reserves the right to determine the eligibility of any company or product for exhibition and to reject or limit exhibit applications at its discretion.

3. Installation, Show, and Dismantling

Exhibitors must adhere to the designated setup, exhibition, and teardown schedules as outlined in the Exhibitor Prospectus. Early dismantling is not permitted without written permission from ISEN. Any materials left behind without instructions will be discarded.

4. Cancellation, Withdrawal, or Reductions in Space

- Exhibitors must provide written notice of cancellation to ISEN. Refunds will be issued as follows:
- More than 90 days before the event: 50% cancellation fee applies.
- Less than 90 days before the event: No refunds.
- ISEN reserves the right to reassign booth space.

5. Space Assignments and Subleasing

Booth assignments will follow the procedures outlined in the exhibitor contract. Exhibitors may not sublease or reassign their space or equipment without prior written approval from ISEN.

6. Relocation of Exhibits

ISEN reserves the right to modify the floor plan or relocate exhibitors if necessary. Any changes will be communicated in advance.

7. Limitations on Exhibits

ISEN reserves the right to remove any exhibit or representative that is deemed inappropriate, disruptive, or unethical. Exhibitors must ensure all fees are paid in full before the event. No exhibitor may host an event conflicting with the official meeting schedule without written approval.

8. Music, Audio Effects, Photography, and Videotaping

Music and audio-visual presentations must be at a reasonable volume and not disrupt neighboring exhibits.

Photography and video recording of exhibits is only permitted with the exhibitor's consent.

9. Copyright Compliance

Exhibitors must obtain proper licensing for any copyrighted material, including music or video, used in their exhibit. ISEN is not responsible for any copyright violations by exhibitors.

10. Security

ISEN will provide general security; however, it is not responsible for any loss, theft, or damage to exhibitor property. Exhibitors are encouraged to carry their own insurance.

11. Applicable Laws

Exhibitors must comply with all applicable federal, state, and local laws, including those regarding fire safety, health regulations, and hazardous materials. All displays must be fireproof.

12. Limitation of Liability

ISEN, its officers, directors, employees, and agents, as well as the conference venue and service contractors, shall not be held liable for any loss, damage, injury, or business interruption related to the exhibit. Exhibitors assume all responsibility for their participation and agree to indemnify ISEN against any claims.

13. Insurance

Exhibitors are responsible for their own liability insurance. ISEN does not provide coverage for exhibitor property. Upon request, exhibitors must provide proof of coverage, including general liability insurance of at least $1,000,000 for personal injury liability and $500,000 for property damage.

14. Force Majeure

If the ISEN Annual Meeting is canceled, postponed, or modified due to unforeseen circumstances beyond ISEN's control (e.g., natural disasters, government regulations, strikes, pandemics), ISEN shall not be held liable for any resulting financial loss to exhibitors.

15. Termination of Right to Exhibit

ISEN reserves the right to terminate an exhibitor's participation without refund if they fail to comply with these terms, violate ethical or professional standards, or engage in disruptive behavior.

16. Exhibitor Rules and Regulations

- Booth Construction & Show Services
- Standard booth setups must not exceed 8 feet in height.
- Exhibits must not obstruct neighboring booths or walkways.
- Additional booth decorations and equipment are available through ISEN's official service provider at the exhibitor's expense.

17. Use of Display Space

Exhibitor booths must be staffed during all exhibit hours.

18. Direct sales of merchandise or equipment from booths is prohibited without prior written approval.

ISEN logos or branding may not be used on exhibitor materials without permission.

19. Conference Activity Approval

Any exhibitor-sponsored events, meetings, or demonstrations before, during, or after the conference must be approved by ISEN to ensure they align with the meeting's educational integrity.

20. FDA Approval/Clearance

Exhibitors displaying or promoting medical devices not yet approved by the FDA must clearly disclose their regulatory status in compliance with FDA guidelines.

21. Exhibit Hall Badges

All exhibitor representatives must be registered and display their ISEN-issued badges at all times.

22. Union Labor Compliance

Exhibitors must comply with union labor regulations at the venue. Tipping of labor staff is strictly prohibited.

By participating in the ISEN Annual Meeting, exhibitors agree to abide by these terms and conditions. ISEN reserves the right to amend these regulations as needed, with prior notice to exhibitors. For any questions, please contact events@isen-ect.org.
